PREFACE

This report presents the population size of Shewa region by awraja, wereda, town, farmers' associations and urban dwellers' associations. At the time of the census the region was divided into 11 awrajas, 108 weredas, 166 towns, 5,306 farmers' associations and 262 urban dwellers' associations. The farmers' associations in rural areas and the urban dwellers' associations in urban areas constitute the lowest tier of administrative units.

Population size by awraja, wereda, towns, farmers' associations and urban dwellers' associations for all regions except Shewa were presented in the analytical report of the respective region. However, in the case of Shewa region, since the number of towns, awrajas, weredas, farmers' associations and urban dwellers' associations was unusually large, it was not possible to present all these details in the Census analytical Report on Shewa Region. Hence it is necessary to present these detailed information on the population size of Shewa region as a separate report (Volume).

It should be noted here that the population size by urban dwellers' associations and farmers' associations areas is given only for those areas that were covered in the 1984 census. The census has not covered some areas of the region which are essentially low land areas inhabited by the nomadic population. These are low land areas of four weredas in Yifat and Timuga awraja; the entire Berehet wereda (low lands with nomadic population) and small part of low land areas in Fentale wereda of Yerer and Kereyu awraja; and the nomadic population of Dulecha wereda in Tegulet and Bulga awraja. The estimated population size of these areas is given in Table 12 of this report.

The results of the 1984 Population and Housing Census of Shewa region and the analysis of the demographic and socio-economic characteristics of the population as well as housing conditions of the rural and urban areas of the region are presented in the report entitled "Population and Housing Census 1984, Analytical Report on Shewa Region", Addis Ababa, 1989, 220 pages. Moreover, the analysis of the demographic and socio-economic characteristics of the population as well as housing conditions for urban centers of the region are prepared in a different volume and will be published soon.
